COMES NOW the United States of America, by and through undersigned counsel, and hereby files this Joint Status Report. On January 16, 2020, the undersigned and Assistant Federal Defender Gretchen Staft conferred about the case. The parties hereby provide the following information about the case in response to the Court’s Trial Scheduling Order at Docket 27:

1. The parties are unable to determine at this point whether or not the case will proceed to trial. As to the current trial date of February 18, 2020, the defendant has filed a Non-Opposed Motion to Continue Trial. Doc. 28. A hearing on that motion has been set for January 21, 2020, at 2:00 p.m.
2. If this case proceeds to trial, the United States anticipates that the trial will take approximately 4 days.
3. At this time, the parties are unaware of any motions-in-limine or pretrial discovery issue that need to be resolved prior to trial. The United States and Defense Counsel reviewed the status of discovery, and discussed evidence the United States believes to be relevant to the charges alleged in the Indictment. With the exception of material containing contraband, which is available for inspection at a law enforcement facility, the United States believes that the discovery in the government's possession whose disclosure is required under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16, Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), the Court's pretrial orders, and elsewhere, has been provided. The United States is aware of its ongoing discovery obligations and will work diligently to meet those obligations. Defense Counsel has filed a Non-Opposed Motion to Continue Pretrial Motions Deadline. Doc. 29. The Court has not yet acted upon this motion.

4. At this time, the Speedy Trial Clock is tolled because of the defendant's motions. The original Speedy Trial Act calculation, as of the filing of the defendant's motions on January 16, 2020, is February 28, 2020, leaving 43 days before trial must commence.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED this 17th day of January, 2020, in Anchorage, Alaska.
